URI HERBS WORKSHOP · CHIANG MAI

5 Thai herbal teas to make at home

Simple blends from the herbs we use in our tea workshop. Use fresh herbs from the market or dried ones from a herbal shop. Each recipe makes 1–2 cups.

RECIPE 1

Lemongrass & Pandan

Fresh, grassy and gently sweet

- 2 stalks fresh lemongrass, bruised and cut
- 2 pandan leaves, knotted
- 500 ml water
- Honey to taste (optional)

METHOD

Bring the water to a boil, add lemongrass and pandan, then simmer for 8–10 minutes. Strain and sweeten if you like. Lovely hot or over ice.

RECIPE 2

Butterfly Pea & Lime

The blue tea that turns purple

- 1 tbsp dried butterfly pea flowers
- 1 stalk lemongrass
- 400 ml hot water (not boiling)
- A squeeze of lime

METHOD

Steep the flowers and lemongrass for 5 minutes until deep blue. Strain, then add the lime at the table and watch the colour change.

RECIPE 3

Roselle Iced Tea

Tart, ruby red and refreshing

- 2 tbsp dried roselle (krajeab)
- 500 ml water
- 1–2 tbsp palm sugar
- Ice and mint to serve

METHOD

Simmer the roselle for 5 minutes, stir in the palm sugar until it dissolves, then cool. Pour over ice with a few mint leaves.

RECIPE 4

Ginger, Lemongrass & Kaffir Lime

Warm and zesty for cool evenings

- 4 thin slices fresh ginger
- 1 stalk lemongrass
- 2 kaffir lime leaves, torn
- 500 ml water

METHOD

Simmer everything for 10 minutes. Strain and enjoy warm. Add a little honey if you like it softer.

RECIPE 5

Chrysanthemum & Goji

Soft, floral and lightly sweet

- 1 tbsp dried chrysanthemum flowers
- 1 tsp goji berries
- 400 ml hot water
- Rock sugar to taste (optional)

METHOD

Steep the flowers and goji for 5–7 minutes. Strain, sweeten if you like, and sip slowly.

TIPS FROM OUR INSTRUCTOR

- Bruise lemongrass with the back of a knife to release more flavour.
- Keep dried herbs in a glass jar away from sunlight; they keep their aroma for months.
- Too strong? Add hot water. Too weak? Simmer 3 more minutes, not more herbs.
